

I hereby formally declare that I,

---

Am a GEI Global Leader.

And as such, I am committed to these principles:

I and everyone has the ability to become a World Ambassador simply by declaring to be one, and then acting from that place of being.

I honor the spirit in all people — their gifts, skills, and energy.

I understand that leadership is an equal giving and receiving proposition.

Leadership results from the interaction within a relationship where the gifts, skills, and energies of all people are honored, appreciated, and used.

I assume a leadership role by helping individuals cultivate their uniqueness through dialogue so that the individual and the organization benefit.

I know that the overall success of any project requires an agreement of the stated goals and objectives by all people involved, I see conflict simply as an expression of a larger option wanting to emerge.

I understand that in true partnership, our individual and unique spirits matter.

I support the highest in myself and others. I am concerned with those qualities of the human spirit such as: love, compassion, patience, tolerance, forgiveness, contentment, and a sense of personal responsibility and harmony.

I am willing to be responsible for maintaining faith, hope, and a spirit of co-operation.

I take personal responsibility for making a positive difference in all of my interactions.
